

Software developer

I am a final-year Computer Science student with skills in software development and mobile apps. I did an internship at Sweco as a software developer and unit tester. I have worked on many projects and labs during my studies that improved my technical skills. Right now, I am doing my bachelor's thesis on using AI to count people in a room with a video camera. I enjoy learning new technologies and solving problems. I am looking for a job to gain more experience.
